Western Ghats

The Western Ghats spread across an area of 1600 Km, parallel to the coast. A UNESCO world heritage site and one of the eight hot spots of biodiversity in the world. Other staggering statistics of this region are that it has over 500 bird species, 100 mammals, and more than 8000 species of plants. The diversity and richness of this region rivals that of the great Amazon. More than 300 globally threatened species live in the dense forests of these ghats. A network of large water bodies with staggering falls and rivulets nourish life here.

The Western Ghats in Goa is just mesmerising and relatively unknown. From some famous and iconic waterfalls to some lesser-known gems. The 3 wildlife sanctuaries spread from the north to the south of the state offer staggering wildlife and adventure experiences. Stay within the jungle in homestays, jungle lodges give the guests an off the grid experience with the unique culture of these regions which will be witnessed through the food, music and hospitality.

Let us together curate holiday experiences revolving around the amazing diversity and richness that the Western Ghats can offer. An itinerary that caters to the new age travel market that includes jungle safaris, treks and trails to unexplored waterfalls and stays within the jungle in homestays and jungle lodges that provides hospitality and cuisine of the region. These itineraries can be coupled with a regular beach side Goa experience. We can have a 2 to 3 nights beach side experience and 1 or 2 nights in the Ghats.
