Curated Culinary tours and workshops

Culinary tours and trails are an immersive deep dive experience. We started developing these trails just to reflect our love for food, but it evolved into something that surprised us. From trails that are for a couple of hours to bespoke multi day experiences. From students at culinary institutes or hotel management to families who want to cook together with locals. We can curate, customize and design an experience that is sure to leave a lasting experience for your guests.

Goan Cuisine cannot be limited or defined by the popular restaurants or choice. There is so much more that this region has to offer to the connoisseurs of food. An exploration of the cuisine by chefs and local experts will unravel so many different aspects of Goa and this will create memorable holiday and learning experiences. The tours could take you into the fields and local markets that presents a variety of local seasonal produce through which you will understand the economy, agriculture, customs, and practices. Visit local bakeries and cafes off the tourist map to understand about the colonial influences and so much more.

Come join us in developing a new and niche segment of special interest tours revolving around the cuisine and culture of Goa. We can design itineraries for students of hotel management which are enriching and insightful or plug in short trails for FIT's to multi day immersive itineraries for special interest groups. We invite you to explore the amazing opportunities of this niche segment for the new age traveller and grow our business and expand our client portfolio.
